WHO IS ATRV2?

ATRV2 didn't begin with a plan to start a band. It began with a father who loved music and three sons he was determined to push toward it.

What started in the late '90s as family jams became Los Atrevidos, playing quinceaneras, weddings, parties and local events.

More than two decades later, another family gathering brought them back together - now carrying years of rock en espanol, norteno, cumbia, 80s music and heavier influences.

Los Atrevidos became ATRV2: Atrevidos, version 2.0.

ATRV2 isn't an attempt to recreate the old band. It is what happened when musicians who started together came back decades later with completely different musical lives behind them - and decided to hear what all of it sounded like on the same stage.

THE PEOPLE BEHIND ATRV2.

Current press lineup shown below. Individual histories and expanded bios are available in the online EPK.

LEAD VOCALS / GUITAR

RAUL

Started on bass with the original Los Atrevidos, then taught himself guitar at 17 and stepped into vocals at 18 to bring more rock en español into the set.

KEYBOARDS / DRUMS

HUGO

A multi-instrumentalist shaped by accordion, keys, guitar, bass, drums and theory - the musical chameleon connecting ATRV2's different styles.

DRUMS

CESAR

Came up as a sonidero surrounded by cumbia and salsa before moving from keyboards to drums. Latin rhythm and romantic ballads still shape his feel.

BASS

RAMIRO

A bassist since high school, with influences ranging from Van Halen and Los Bukis to Jaco Pastorius. Decades of experience meet a serious bass obsession.

GUITAR / VOCALS

RENA

Raised on metal and rock, then broadened by years of ballads, variety music and live work. Heavy when needed, versatile everywhere else.

ACCORDION / PERCUSSION

STEVE

A late starter who closed the gap through discipline. In only a few years he grew from showing up to jam into ATRV2's accordion player.

NO SINGLE LANE.

ATRV2 moves between styles without treating any one of them as the whole identity.
