WHO IS ATRV2?

ATRV2 didn't begin with a plan to start a band. It began with a father who loved music and three sons he was determined to push toward it.

What started in the late '90s as family jams eventually became Los Atrevidos, playing quinceañeras, weddings, parties and local events before the members followed different musical paths.

More than two decades later, another family party brought them back together. What was supposed to be one night of music turned into a band again - this time carrying years of rock en español, alternative, norteño, cumbia, salsa, '80s music and heavier influences with them.

Los Atrevidos became ATRV2: Atrevidos, version 2.0.

ATRV2 isn't an attempt to recreate the old band. It's what happened when people who started playing together as kids came back decades later with completely different musical lives behind them - and decided to see what all of it sounded like on the same stage.
